MIDGE REISMAN

Midge Reisman’s contributions to The Mountain Jewish Community are boundless. She’s served as President, held numerous committee positions and the stalwart publicity person, working with the local press and scribe of the MJC newsletter and website.

Midge and her husband Ed are dedicated weekenders, spending 26 years traveling from their home in Sherman Oaks to their condo in Lake Arrowhead. It can be said that Midge is the unofficial welcome wagon for “new comers” and together with Ed host numerous MJC events.

She’s an accomplished painter, donating original work by way of painting an auction winners’ choice of person or pet; raising much needed funds for MCH, Boys & Girls Club, Rotary Clubs, Planned Parenthood, Leukemia and Lymphoma Society and others.

Professionally, Midge is a retired graphic artist who worked for advertising agencies and publishing companies and designed city logos for Oxnard and Lomita. She still does graphic art for newsletters, volunteering her time designing invitations and centerpieces, together with obtaining gift items for charity events.

Midge also enjoys travel, reading, mah jongg and tennis. She was honored for 34 years of work at the last PAL (Parents Against Leukemia) tennis tournament and luncheon in Woodland Hills. It was a very special day as so many of her mountain friends attended to congratulate her.

As the mother of 3 sons and 3 granddaughters, she is very proud of everyone in her family since they all had to work on their own to achieve what they have today.

There is no doubt that Midge will be known as someone who has always tried and succeeded in helping others.
